Preaching Schedule

September 20th and 27th, Fr. Armstrong will present in his sermons the underpinnings for a sturdy and durable Anglicanism. This has been a constant request from parishioners to do at the beginning of the Fall semester as an orientation for newcomers and parishioners alike for the year ahead.

On the following three Sundays, October 4th, 11th, and 18th Jesse Barkalow, John Stonestreet, and Fr. Armstrong will consider our Christian perspectives and civic responsibilities as Kingdom Citizens, especially important as we prepare to vote in this year's Presidential election.

Tuesday Morning Holy Communion

A reminder of the return of a Tuesday morning 10:00 celebration of Holy Communion especially for those who find the Sunday morning worship a bit too crowded, but still want an in-person worship experience.

Hymn of the Week

The Church's One Foundation

Text: Samuel John Stone (1839-1900)

Tune: AURELIA - Samuel S. Wesley (1810-1876)

This week we turn to a well-known hymn sung all over the world. Like previous hymns we have studied it points directly not only to the appointed readings but to the world around us and the current situation in which we find ourselves.

The author of the hymn text is Samuel John Stone, a clergyman of the Church of England, the son of Rev. William Stone, was born at Whitmore, Staffordshire, April 25, 1839. He was educated at Pembroke College, Oxford, where he was graduated B.A. in 1862. Later he took orders and served various Churches. He was the author of many original hymns and translations, which were collected and published in 1886.

The actual words have this week's hymn not changed much from Stone's original text, though there are differences in what verses are sung. Stone's hymn originally consisted of seven stanzas, to which he added three more, and today most hymnals include the original 1, 2, 4, 5, and 6. In the first two verses, we proclaim our unity as the Church in Christ, through baptism, the Word, and Communion. In stanza 3 and 4, we pray that divisions might cease and we would fully experience that unity, and in verse 5, we acknowledge the unity greater than the sum of individual people, our fellowship with God, the Three in One.

The author of the hymn tune, AURELIA, which is most commonly wedded to Stone's text, is Samuel Sebastian Wesley, He was an English organist and composer. The grandson of Charles Wesley, he was born in London, and sang in the choir of the Chapel Royal as a boy. He learned composition and organ from his father, Samuel, completed a doctorate in music at Oxford, and composed for piano, organ, and choir. He was organist at Hereford Cathedral (1832-1835), Exeter Cathedral (1835-1842), Leeds Parish Church (1842-1849), Winchester Cathedral (1849-1865), and Gloucester Cathedral (1865-1876). Wesley strove to improve the standards of church music and the status of church musicians throughout his career.

Information adapted from hymnary.com

1. The church's one foundation is Jesus Christ, her Lord; she is his new creation by water and the Word: from heav'n he came and sought her to be his holy bride; with his own blood he bought her, and for her life he died.

2. Elect from ev'ry nation, yet one o'er all the earth, her charter of salvation one Lord, one faith, one birth; one holy name she blesses, partakes one holy food, and to one hope she presses, with ev'ry grace endued.

3. Though with a scornful wonder men see her sore oppressed, by schisms rent asunder, by heresies distressed, yet saints their watch are keeping, their cry goes up, "How long?" And soon the night of weeping shall be the morn of song.

4. The church shall never perish! Her dear Lord to defend, to guide, sustain, and cherish, is with her to the end; though there be those that hate her, and false sons in her pale, against both foe and traitor she ever shall prevail.

5. 'Mid toil and tribulation, and tumult of her war, she waits the consummation of peace forevermore; till with the vision glorious her longing eyes are blest, and the great church victorious shall be the church at rest.

6. Yet she on earth hath union with the God the Three in One, and mystic sweet communion with those whose rest is won: O happy ones and holy! Lord, give us grace that we, like them, the meek and lowly, on high may dwell with thee.
